GROUNDSWELL DESIGN GROUP

PROJECT ADVISOR

Groundswell Design Group is a design firm specializing in placemaking, public space and hospitality projects. Their projects range in scale from large public parks, land art installations, restaurants and distilleries, to intimate cafés and pop-up activations.

In 2006, David Fierabend founded Groundswell Design Group with his husband John McDowell (Groundswell's CFO), in Philadelphia, creating a multidisciplinary design studio to explore the place-making potentials of hospitality and public space design.

Groundswell's vibrant projects employ adaptive reuse and repurposing practices to seamlessly blend social interiors with their verdant landscapes beyond. From the initial design phase through final build-out and installation, our approach to design is 100% holistic and hands-on. Each project's process is specially tailored to the site, drawing inspiration from the surrounding landscape, neighborhood, and community to create a unique lifestyle and atmosphere.
